Entered as second class matter at the post office at Pioche, Nev., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The bad condition of roads between the Pahranagat Valley and the Clark county line, are such that the travel from Los Vegas to this section of the state is being sent around through Utah, by the Arrowhead Trail, or as far on that road as a man wishes to travel before crossing the state line for Pioche and Ely and other points in this section of the state, making the distance nearly twice as far. This does not seem to us to be fair either to Los Vegas or Lincoln county as there is considerable travel that would naturally come and go by the direct route through the two counties if the roads were only reasonably passable. Pioche is in the line of travel and very naturally wants what is coming to her, while it is true the State Highway is in project for opening up this direct route, there is no reason why travel should be suspended pending the completion of the Highway.

ELGIN PERSONALS

Mrs W. B. Conk, of Carp, wife of signal maintainer at that point has been visiting with her daughter Mrs Lee Dixon, of Elgin for a few days. Her small son is an extremely precocious child in every way, we think, not five months old and weighs nineteen pounds, and is the owner of two brand new teeth. Ranch life must agree with him. Mr Conk has recently moved onto his ranch a mile east of Carp, and they have one of the nicest ranch houses in this section.

Rube Bradshaw is loading a car of alfalfa hay for shipment to local buyers in Caliente. The stormy weather of the past few days is retarding the cutting of the hay, but he states he was fortunate in not having much cut when the storm commenced. The Utah Construction Co. are also taking quite a bit of hay from the Bradshaw ranch.

The Marriger ranch is the first on the market with sweet corn, which is of very good quality, tender and sweet. They also report that their watermelons are just beginning to ripen.

The ground under the apple trees at the Elliot ranch is covered with fruit, which Mr Elliot states is very hard to market, altho of very fine quality. We believe if local growers were better patronized it would result in more fresh goods on the market here. The local ranchers at present have no incentive to raise anything but hay, as this seems the only product for which there is any market.

Bert Barnett is wearing a broad smile these days, occasioned by the arrival of a second son, to be named, we understand, Roland Stanley. He now has a nice family, two boys and two girls. Mother and baby are both going very nicely, and are being cared for by Dr. Geo. A. Bell, with Mrs Jas. Bradshaw as nurse.

Mrs Hardy of Bunkerville, together with two small grandchildren, is visiting at the home of her daughter Mrs Rube Bradshaw. She states that Elgin is quite a change in climate from her home.

"Mac" McClellan and John Bradshaw returned Saturday from a five days' prospecting trip in the vicinity

DESERTED

Rev. M. A. Matthews

Editor's Note: Rev. Matthews is a Presbyterian Minister in the First Church at Seattle, Wash.

The Presbyterian Church has been one of the greatest forces for liberty, education, and evangelism America has ever had, I think. It was the author of modern representative Republican government.

I think America owes much of her government to the Presbyterian Church. She has been one of this government's greatest examples and most powerful defenders. In the old days the Presbyterian church's adherence to doctrines and principles, added to the strength, character, and integrity of American citizenship. In these latter days, it seems to me, she has come upon perilous times.

FIRST — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly and sin if she permits infamous heretics who deny the deity of Christ and the infallibility of the Bible to stay in her ranks and to occupy her pulpits. I insist she has no right to allow such enemies of God, of home, and of government to carry her name. I think a Presbyterian minister who denies the deity of Christ or the infallible Word of God and continues to occupy a Presbyterian pulpit is drawing his money under false pretenses. We have all taken oath to teach the deity of Christ and the infallibility of God's Word, and for that we receive position and compensation.

SECOND — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly when she becomes a meal ticket for faddists and place-hunters who constantly devise schemes and plans and organizations to increase their power, patronage and patrimony. They live and work exclusively that they may subsist upon such efforts.

THIRD — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly when she permits her enemies to begin to build machinery and centralize her government, thereby detracting from her power.

I don't believe Presbyterians will submit to centralized power nor to dictation by agents and machines. They crushed that kind of power once. I hope they will crush it again. It must be crushed in governments and it must be crushed in the church.

The Presbyterian Church should return to the sovereignty and power and supremacy of her Presbyterian government and to the control by her presbyteries.

Hear my plea! Awake, grand old Church of liberty, righteousness and evangelism.

AUTOCASTER

There's many a puzzlin' problem that attacks a feller's mind, when discoursin' to a Public, of a mighty various kind. There's some will differ with ye, and there's others that applaud—an' some that won't believe ye on yer oath, so help ye God! Which brings the solemn query into this here humble song: Can anything be honest—yet remain, dead wrong?

I've allers heard that Honesty was first among the things, that took a man to Heaven, on the shiniest of wings; that a man that wuzent honest, had mighty high as well, consult the ticket agent fer the slowest train to hell— So, a little sober thinkin' will arouse the question strong,—Can any man be honest—yet, remain dead wrong?

I try to foller reason in the ideas I evolve—an' I sometimes pray fer guidance, when I've got a thing to solve. . . . I've catered more to judgement, than to tolerance or taste, in these days of much palaver where the syntax goes to waste. . . . Let me cast this humbly pebble in the philosophic pool —That Honesty is resky—in the bosom of a Pool!

Mrs Mercer until the weather becomes a little cooler. We understand that Guy Cox, relief section foreman at Rox, Nev., has bid in the position vacated by J. J. Grandin at Stine, and will move his family as soon as relief can be arranged.

Joe Schlurman is laying the foundation for his new house this week. He intends putting up a very comfortable ranch house on his farm a mile west of Elgin, which has already been developed considerably.

The two children of Joe Schrader of Las Vegas spent a few days last week visiting Miss Hazel Bradshaw at the Ranch. They were accompanied by Lee Dixon has a half grown coyote running up and down his clothes-line, which he says he intends to raise. We will admit it has stopped snapping now, and permits him to pet it. He can pet it, but not for us.
